The Proceedings.

The committee met this morning at 10 o'clock, but in the absence of Chairman Sadler, who was unavoidably detailed in Richmond on account of bad train service, adjourned until 5:20 o'clock. At 5:45 o'clock the committee was called to order by Chairman Sadler, and Mr. Brooks, the steward, was recriled to the stand. Witness said that he always compared the award price with the bills sent by morchants. Witness said he was not elected steward until 1941. Witness was asked to explain the reason why bills were paid that did not agree with the awards. Witness said that he could not explain. He said it was his duty to check up the bills when the goods arrived. Witness said the had no authority to change the price of any supplies purchased.

Witness and that it was true that molasses was contracted for at twenty conts per gallon, and was paid for at twenty-four cents. Witness said that he did not always discount bills, although there was always money on hand to pay them. He said he did not consider it his duty to discount. Witness was asked why he had purchased meal from L. W. Lane at eighty cents, when the contract was at seventy cents.

Witness said he could not recall the incident, but that it might have been for eighty cents.

Chairman Sadler then read from the expert accountant's report, which stated that meal was purchased at 80 cents, when the contract price was 70 cents.

"Is this not a mistake?" asked Chairman Sadler.

"I am not prepared to answer," replied The chairman then asked the witness

The chairman then asked the witness why he had purchased flour at $5.80, when the contract price was $5.50, both centract and purchase having been awarded to Captain Lune?

Witness said he could not explain; he could not recellect.

Witness said that all bills were expected to be O. K. when they left his offlice. He said he had no desire to put the blame on any one. He was liable to make mistakes, he said.

Chairman then asked witness why L. W. Lane had delivered flour at $5.90, when the contract was for $5.75.

Witness said he could not recollect. Witness said he could not recollect. Witness said the flour was shipped direct from the mills, and the delay frequently amounted to a month. It was the duty, if required, for the contract to cycliver flour after the contract was awarded.

Mayor Warburton desired to state that he had not said that Mr. Pebasco had no great amount of experience as a contractor. He said he did not know anything about Mr. Pebasco's experience. Colonel Lane, the commissioner of hospitals, is not a member of the firm of L. W. Lane, to whom contracts were awarded.

Night Session.

The committee met for the night session at 8:00 with Mr. Brooks still on the stand. Witness was asked if the four mills kid on flour. Witness replied that he could not remember if flour mills had ever offered a bid. When asked if flour mills, witness said he thought on the mills, witness said he thought so.

witness said that the committee was in the habit of coming down and taking a "toddy before dinner, and that he thought his act met with the superintendent's approval."

Colonel Lawless here cross-examined Mr. Brooks. Witness said when supplies were short, he purchased on the open market. Witness said the shortness of supplies was not due to any act of Dr. Foster; that when supplies were short it was necessary to get them or the patients would "go hungry." Dr. Foster was simply notified that purchases had to be made.

Witness, in answer to a question, said that water did not stand in the grounds long enough to become stagnant; that he had not meant to say so in his direct examination. He had meant to say that water stood in the low places, but not long enough to become stagnant.

Witness stated that he relt sure that in time he could prove that the charges made by Messes, Boudar and Company in their report were not true. Chairman Sadler then asked if the report showed that goods were purchased at one price and paid for at an advanced price; that no discount was deducted, as though the bills were paid within the time in which discounts were allowed; that improper estimates were made; that retail prices were paid for contract goods; would that not prove that there was a "laxity of duty?"

Witness was asked to explain the prices charged by him for flour. Witness said he sold the steward 40 barrels of flour after he got the contract for 200 barrels for the quarter before his car arrived. He said he would gladly have taken the contract for 275 barrels. Witness said that he had never clurged cent more than his contract. He said he had never clurged secopt twice within five years. Witness said it was no fault of his that the hospital prounds except twice within five years. Witness said it was no fault of his that the hospital had to purchase at relail, as he would gladly have furnished ten cars of flour if they had ordered them. Richmond, Va., May 21, 1906.

Editor of The Times-Dispatchi.

Sir.—I nutice in Sunday's Times-Dispatch that Mr. H. B. Boudar, in his report to the committee investigating the Eastern State Hospital, claims that in the year 1900 I received a contract for rice at 6.7-8 cents and billed same at 6.1-8 cents por pound. I challesge the correctness of that statement. I have been frequently a successful bidder for supplies for this institution, and I deny positively having at any time received a contract for any item at one price and charged a higher price. My invoices have always been strictly in accordance with contract prices. These bids are made second contract may be made before the first is completed, thereby interlapping, and it is possible and probable that Mr. Boudar has found an invoice under one contract and not contract itself under which that invoice was rendered.

In justice to me, will you kindly publish this statement.

Yours very truly. the Boudar Report.

Senate Must Act.

That the Senate will be compelled to take cognizance of the case is indicated by the decision. Justice Harlan held that the sentence could not cover an election to the United States Senate, as "they do not hold their places under the government of the United States."

He would not say, in raply to a question, that he intended to take further legal steps, but from the fact that he does not regard his case as finally decided, in view of the sixty days granted for a rehearing, it is inferred that he will do so.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21.—The decision of the Supreme Court to-day, affirming the decision of the lower court in the case of Senator Burton, of Kansas, will not have an immediate effect in so far as Burton's seat is concerned. It is understood the Senato will take no action pending the preparation of the petition for rehearing of the case. Should this be denied, the Senate will then proceed to expel. It is not impossible that Burton will resign, when the petition shall have been overfuled, in case such a decision should be handed down. He has not been on the Senate floor since he was indicted.

The amendment which gave the House Committee the greatest concern to-night was that making pipe lines common carriers, which the committee thought its consistent with the amendment prohibiting common carriers from producing commodities carried by it. Formal action was not had on any of the amendments, and, therefore, the House conferees likely will be left free to exercise their best judgment.

BIRMINGHAM MEETING ENDS

Sharp Answer to Protest of Delegates on Question of Revision.

(By Associated Press.)

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 21,-The fifteenth session of the quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcrai Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, came to a close shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon with a few words of paternal advice and a touching benediction by the venerable Bishop A. W. Wilson, the senior bishop of the Church.

The last day was marked by the rapid dispatch of business. The features of the morning were the reading of the answer to the protest of several delegates against the plan adopted looking to a revision and restatement of the church creed; a debate on who should control the publishing house in Japan, which was finally decided in favor of the book committee, the present custodians, and the adoption of a resolution striking out the paragraph of the discipline relating to worldy amusements, and empowering the college of tishops to be the same to the subempowering the college of Ushops to draw up a new paragraph on the sub-

The sixteenth business day of the conference begant to-day wth devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. C. Reed, of Virginia. Bishop J. J. Tigert, who was ordained yesterday, presided. A motion fixing the first Wednesday in May, 1910, as the time for holding the next conference prevailed.

A discussion arose over the report of the Church Extension Committee, which made several changes in the personnel of the board, but the report was adopted. The report recommended hearty support of the church extension work, especially in the new fields of Cuba, Oklahoma and Indian Territory and the rural districts of the South.

An answer by the special committee suppointed for the purpose was made to the recent protest filed against the proposed new statement of faith, The answer was signed by C. M. Bishop, O. B. Brown and J. C. Scrugss, and said that the protest had been read "with sorrow and amazement." The reply also stated that it had not been suggested by any representative of the majority that there would be or was needed any revision of the faith, but that the conference only authorized the commission to invite other branches of the Methodist faith to unite in preparing "an adequate statement of the common faith of the followers of John Wosley." The reply was severe in some places, and dealt with the subject in considerable detail.

CALDWELL HERESY TRIAL

New Executive Committee to Have Charge of Educational Work of Assembly.

(By Associated Press.)

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 21.—The active hard work of the General Assembly of the Bouthern Presbyterian Church began to-day, One of the first matters to reach a conclusion was the adoption of the report of the Committee on Church and Christian Education, which urged the appointment of a general executive committee and secretary to have charge of the work.

The complaint of Dr. B. S. Laws against the Synod of Virginia was made the order for the afternoon session. Dr. Laws claims that when a man is convorted, whose country legalizes more than one wife, the man should annul all marriages excepting the first, and that when he is brought into the church he should not be allowed to marry again until he shall become a widower.

The Synod of Virginia, on the contrary, ibelieves it unwise that such a man should annul any of the marriages, but that he should be brought into the church with all his wives, but should be probabiled from contracting further marriages.

Heresy Case.

Heresy Case.

At the afternoon session it was decided that the Caldwell heresy case be placed upon the docket, which means that the case may come up at any hour. The case is known as the complaint of Rev. William E. Caldwell, against the Synod of Texas. The case began two years ago, when Mr. Caldwell was called to the First Presbyterian Church at Fort Worth. After the examination he was installed as pastor. Individuals later complained to the Synod of Texas that Dr. Caldwell's dectrine was not sound, and the Synod recommended to the Fort Worth Presbytery to dissolve relations between First Presbyterian Church and Dr. Caldwell.

First Presbyterian Church and Dr. Cantwell.

It referred the charges back to the Fort Worth Presbytery to be acted upon. The judicial committee, of which Dr. J. W. Stagg is chairman, reported to the General assembly to-day that the committee is doubtful whether the case should be referred to the General Assembly for action, and recommended that the case be heard in open session to-morrow to determine whether or not the case should come before this assembly. sembly.

Hymns Restored.

The assembly discussed at length the recommendation that forly old hymns be put back in the hymn book and the recommendation was adopted.

There may be a toprint of the "distance principles of the Southern Presbyterian Church," a book which was published in 1861.

Members of the Assembly claim that the book should be revised, claiming that relations had changed, as well as other many changes having taken place. It was decided that an "ad interim" committee be appointed to determine whether the book should be revised and report to the next Assembly. This committee also was directed to investigate the reprint and revision of other literature.
